Applicant's election of Group I, claims 1-5, in the reply filed on 4/26/05 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Satoh (US 6,464,774 B1) or Rochow (US 1,606,481).

Satoh teaches a composition comprising lithium silicate, sodium silicate, powdered alumina, and water thus anticipating the instant invention. (see Example 1 in col.3).

Rochow teaches a composition comprising alumina, sodium silicate, and water thus anticipating the instant invention. The composition is used for a mortar which is cementitious (col.1, last paragraph).

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as failing to set forth the subject matter which applicant(s) regard as their invention.

The use of consisting of and comprising claim language is indefinite in claim 1. Applicants are to remove one of these words upon amendment to resolve this issue. The claims have been treated as the broader "comprising" being utilized.

The term "essentially free" is indefinite. If it is essentially free, what remaining amount of fibers can still be part of the composition. This is vague because fibers can still be thus in the composition. Essentially free is different than free which means 0% ceramic reinforcing fibers.

Claims 4 is indefinite. The terms "consists essentially" is not complete in that it is missing "of". The applicants may consider using wherein the ceramic powder is or wherein the ceramic powder comprises if they use comprising in claim 1.

Claim 5 would appear indefinite because "consists essentially of" means that other components present would materially affect it and water would appear to be now excluded because that is a required component of claim 1 and would make the powders hydraulic upon mixing. The applicants may consider deleting "consists essentially of" and replace with —comprises— if they mean to use comprising for claim 1.
